EXPERIMENT : PRODUCT LANDING PAGE USING CSS3 FLEXBOX AND GRID WITH DARK/LIGHT MODE TOGGLE

Aim:

To design and develop a responsive product landing page using HTML5 and CSS3, implementing Flexbox for layout alignment, CSS Grid for product arrangement, and a CSS-only dark/light mode toggle.

PROCEDURE

1. Open Notepad and create a project folder named `Tech Nova`.
2. Create four HTML files named `home.html`, `products.html`, `features.html`, and `contact.html`.
3. Create a CSS file named `style.css` to apply common styling to all four web pages.
4. Write the basic HTML structure in each file using the `<!DOCTYPE html>`, `<html>`, `<head>`, and `<body>` tags.
5. Set the appropriate page title in the `<title>` tag of each HTML file.
6. Link the external CSS file to each HTML page using the `<link rel="stylesheet" href="style.css">` tag.
7. Create a header section on every page containing the Tech Nova company name and navigation links to Home, Products, Features, and Contact.
8. Add a Dark Mode checkbox and label to each page to provide a dark/light mode toggle.
9. Design the Home page using a welcome heading, laptop-related description, an Explore Our Products link, and a laptop image.
10. Create the Products page with three laptop product cards: Tech Nova Pro, Tech Nova Gaming, and Tech Nova Air. Display their images, names, prices, and Buy Now links.
11. Design the Features page to explain the advantages of Tech Nova laptops, including powerful performance, long battery life, modern design, gaming experience, fast storage, and customer support.
12. Create the Contact page with input fields for the user's name and email, a message text area, and a Send Message button. Display the company's contact email and phone number.
13. Add a footer to each page displaying the Tech Nova copyright information.

14. Save all four HTML files, the `style.css` file, and the required laptop images in the same project folder.
15. Open `home.html` in a web browser and test the navigation links to move between the four pages.
16. Check that the laptop images, product names, prices, contact details, and page content are displayed correctly.
17. Verify the styling and Dark Mode toggle after applying the appropriate CSS rules in `style.css`.
18. Test the website on different screen sizes if responsive CSS is included in the stylesheet.
19. Make the necessary corrections if any page, image, navigation link, or styling does not work properly.
